HOOVER AGAIN HITS RELIEF BILL

GARNER PROGRAM IS CONDEMNED DURING CAMP CONFERENCES

White House Claims Bond Issue Would Hurt
Budget

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Speaker Garner's $2,300,000,000 unemployment relief program today was marching swiftly toward probable house passage despite a renewed presidential assault on its proposed billion-dollar bond issue for non-productive public works.

President Hoover returned to the White House at 9:30 a. m. after weekend conferences at his Rapidan camp with executives of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. At the conferences the bond issue Democratic plan was condemned and agreement was reached that all federal unemployment relief should be handled through the corporation.

A White House statement summarizing the Rapidan conference said a bond issue would "unbalance the budget and would render financing of the operations of the reconstruction corporation extremely difficult if not impossible, and would increase rather than decrease unemployment."

The house rules committee nevertheless was called today to give the Garner bill legislative right of way. Being controlled by Democrats, the committee was expected to report promptly a rule under which the measure could be brought to a vote tomorrow.

All but three members of the Democratic majority in the house are pledged to support the Garner bill. Republican Leader Snell said he would summon his followers to a conference this afternoon and ask them similarly to bind themselves to vote against it. However, a number of insurgent Republicans, led by Rep. LaGuardia, New York, are expected to vote with the Democrats.

The white house announcement said Mr. Hoover and reconstruction officials had agreed on four points "necessary to speedy economic recovery." The unemployment and business relief program has been previously advocated by the President. It is:

1. Double the borrowing power of the reconstruction corporation to $3,000,000,000 to enable it to loan funds to public bodies and corporations for "self-liquidating" construction projects. To provide $2,000,000,000 for loans to states for direct relief and to provide additional funds for the federal farm board.
2. Creation of a system of home loan discount banks to protect home owners from foreclosure and to stimulate building.
3. Coordinate with the reconstruction corporation the credit expansion work of industrial and financial committees now being organized in the federal reserve districts.
4. Rigid economy with absolutely no expenditures being undertaken which cannot be paid for from current tax income without borrowing by the treasury. This excludes the billion-dollar bond issue proposal in the Garner bill.

YOUNGSTOWN CUTS OFF 140 EMPLOYEES

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 6.—Approximately 140 employees were to lose their jobs today as the city administration began reductions made necessary by the tax situation.

Park Commissioner Lionel Evans said forty men were to be discharged at the close of the day, and Engineering Commissioner Grant Cook estimated that after today the number of men employed in the streets department would be reduced by 100.

Although Mayor Moore gave officials until June 15 to reduce their forces, Evans and Cook told Moore they would start cutting at once. The mayor approved the plan.

Announcement was made that total taxes collected in seven weeks prior to the close of the year amounted to $2,775,074, against a tax duplicate of $4,500,000 plus $3,000,000 carried over in tax delinquencies.

ARREST SUSPECT IN HOLD-UP MURDER

LORAIN O., June 6.—Police here today arrested a suspect in connection with the slaying of a New Castle Pa. policeman during a $23,000 bank holdup there.

The man held here is said to have been an escaped convict from a New York penitentiary. An automobile used in the holdup bore license plates issued in Lorain. New Castle detectives were en route here to attempt identification of the suspect.

HAUSNER FEARED LOST AT SEA; FUEL SUPPLY IS EXHAUSTED

LONDON, June 6.—Airdromes from London to Warsaw and air officials of several European nations who waited in vain for word of Stanislaus Hausner on his projected New York-Warsaw flight feared he had been lost in the Atlantic.

The only possibility was that he might have landed somewhere on the continent where he would be out of communication with the world. His fuel supply would have been exhausted early Sunday.

A garage proprietor at Cork, Ireland, over which the great circle route would carry a flier over St. George's Channel, reported he heard the motor of a powerful airplane early Sunday. Officials could find no other residents of the district who reported hearing an airplane.

Beacons at airports in Ireland, France, England, and Poland were kept lighted throughout Saturday night. Police chiefs throughout Poland were instructed to keep a lookout for Hausner and civil guards in Ireland were on watch.

YOUTH SHOT IN ALLEGED THEFT OF GASOLINE; TWO ARRESTED

Shot while assertedly engaged in stealing gasoline from the tank of a parked automobile in Clifton at midnight Saturday, Max Whitten, 16, of 318 W. Jefferson St., Springfield, was confined Monday in the Greene County Infirmary Hospital.

Although nearly fifty shotgun pellets are said to have lodged in the youth's back and right shoulder, his condition, while painful, is not described as serious.

Scott Wilson, 17, of R. R. No. 5, Springfield, is being held in the juvenile detention department of the infirmary, in connection with the shooting.

Miss Bernice Beniger, 17, near Enon, who was with Whitten and Wilson, was turned over to her father with instructions to report Monday to Juvenile Judge S. C. Wright for questioning.

The Springfield youth was shot by Axel Rowe, Clifton resident, who told Sheriff John Baughn that he and his wife were awakened near midnight by suspicious sounds in front of their home.

Upon investigation, Rowe said he saw somebody syphoning gasoline from his parked auto. Rowe said he and his wife rushed out of the house and the would-be thief ran. Rowe said he fired once at the fleeing figure.

The wounded youth was taken by Whitten and Miss Beniger to the Antioch College clinic at Yellow Springs, where Whitten received first aid treatment.

His companions then took him to Springfield City Hospital, from where a report was made to Springfield police and the Clark County sheriff's office.

A deputy sheriff took Whitten to the scene of the shooting at Clifton and awakened Rowe, who had not yet reported the affair to authorities. Rowe gave his version of the incident, after which Sheriff Baughn was notified. Sheriff Baughn went to Springfield early Sunday, removing Whitten and Wilson to the County Infirmary here. Whitten is said to have claimed that he was the victim of mistaken identity and that the real thief got away. He is credited with the statement that he received the shotgun wounds when he interrupted another man stealing gas from the parked car. The man fled and Whitten declared he was shot when mistaken for Rowe for the actual thief.

Miss Beniger, who graduated from Enon High School recently, is said by authorities to have been innocently involved and to have had no connection with the affair. She is expected to be released from custody after her scheduled court appearance here Monday.

Whitten, Wilson and the girl, Sheriff Baughn revealed, were on their way back after returning from their father's house, who had been visiting her cousin, Miss Beniger, to her home in East Monroe, O.

Upon reaching Clifton, Whitten is said to have expressed a desire to leave the machine. The car was stopped, Whitten got out and walked away. Both Wilson and the girl are said to have denied knowledge that any attempt was to be made to steal gasoline.

BACCALAUREATE IS PREACHED TO GLASS AT WILBERFORCE U.

"Have Dominion" Bishop
Tells Graduates
Here Sunday

"Have dominion! Take charge! Control! Manage! Direct! This injunction sets forth one of the chief functions of man" was the opening declaration of Rt. Rev. D. H. Sims, A. M., D. D., one of the new bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church and president of Allen University, Columbia, S. C., in the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning to 143 Wilberforce University seniors.

The students formed in the auditorium of Galloway Hall with Dr. Gilbert H. Jones, president of the university, accompanied by Rt. Rev. Reverdy Ransom, bishop of the Third Episcopal District, the speaker for the morning. Rt. Rev. D. H. Sims and other prominent guests, together with the members of the general faculty and candidates for graduation, and proceeded to the Jones Auditorium, Shorter Hall.

The processional grand march (Tannhauser) by Wagner, was played by Mrs. Grace Edwards-Waltes. Dr. H. H. Summers of Payne Theological Seminary, gave the invocation. The University Chorus, with Charles Salsbury, director, sang Gloria (from Twelfth Mass) Mozart.

The sermon was read by Bishop R. C. Ransom. During the offertory, Mrs. Grace Edwards-Waltes played "Dripping Spring," Clakay, followed by music (selected) by Miss Claidie Stevenson.

After the introduction by President Jones, Bishop Sims read a portion of Genesis, 1:26, "And God said let us make man in our own image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea."

"This passage of scripture presents a wonderful portrayal of the Genesis of the universe," said the speaker. "Whether the geology and biology of the passage, and whether the chronology of the account be correct are of little concern to us. Whether it has taken God six days, six thousand or six million years to create this universe is secondary. The great concern is in the beginning. God created the heavens and the earth."

"According to this account, man was created an agent of God, a partner with God. The finish of his creation. He was created to rule the world in all the vastness. In other words, man is the ne plus ultra in the economy of Providence. Truly man stands on top of the world and is to be monarch of all."

REPUBLICAN LEADERS PREDICT RESUBMISSION TO BE ADOPTED

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Adoption of a prohibition resubmission plank by the Republican national committee is definitely predicted by some of the party leaders now busily engaged in a search for the best formula in which to embody such a declaration.

"I am confident now that a resubmission plank will be adopted," said senator Moses, N. H., after two hours and a half conference of party chieftains in the seclusion of the Congressional Country Club Sunday afternoon.

Republican Leader Watson of the senate said virtually the entire

ROOSEVELT FORCES SUPPORTING WALSH FOR CHAIRMAN POST

Ignore Shouse In Break;
Indicates Convention
Fight

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 6.—Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, will be supported by the forces of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention by a decision which openly throws down the gauntlet to the Smith-Raskob-Shouse group.

Announcement of the decision of the Roosevelt supporters to attempt to shelve Jonett Shouse, commended for the post by the committee on arrangements, was made here last night after a conference at the governor's home. James A. Farley, Roosevelt's New York manager, gave out the brief statement which said:

"The governor's friends have come to the conclusion that they will urge election of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana as permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention."

Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, is understood still to have the support of Roosevelt's followers for temporary chairman and keynoter.

Choice of Walsh is likely to bring the first test of strength between pro and anti-Roosevelt forces at the convention. Friends of Shouse and delegates pledged to Alfred E. Smith and perhaps some of the "favorite son" groups probably will oppose this program and vote for Shouse for permanent chairman.

Shouse was unacceptable, it was said, because Roosevelt managers felt he had acted unfairly toward their cause after promising to refrain from partiality to any candidate. Roosevelt men take the position that Shouse has been active in seeking alliances in various states for the benefit of Smith.

The last straw in a situation which was brewing hostility apparently was broken with information from Washington yesterday that Shouse was ready to "keynote" regardless of whether he was permanent or temporary chairman.

The Roosevelt camp, having no knowledge of what Shouse would say, did not feel obliged to support him.

The governor's managers apparently recognized their strategy is fraught with danger. Should Walsh be beaten it undoubtedly would be a great check on Roosevelt's chances. They are confident, however, that they will have enough votes to elect Walsh.

The Montana senator's party record, his personality and ability as a presiding officer in the stormy 1924 convention will appeal to many delegates outside the Roosevelt camp, friends of the governor believe.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Alfred E. Smith has called a conference of his supporters for the Democratic presidential nomination tomorrow, to discuss a concerted plan of action at the convention.

Representatives from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will attend. Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City is understood to be slated as the Smith floor leader. Three men have been mentioned to make the Smith nominating speech. They are John W. Davis, of New York; Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, and Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts.

WESLEYAN CONFERS

Master of arts degrees were presented to twelve, master of science degrees to two, fine arts diplomas to six, and Bachelor of music awards to five.

Doctor of divinity degrees were given to Rev. Edwin K. Johnson, Defiance; Rev. Samuel R. Dunham, Oxford; Rev. Glenn R. Phillips, Hollywood, Calif., and Rev. Charles B. Ketcham, Warren.

Those participating in the discussion included Postmaster-General Brown, President Hoover's chief political advisor, and James A. Garfield, Cleveland attorney, who is slated to be chairman of the platform committee at the Chicago convention which begins next week.

Moses made it clear that no definite conclusions as to the wording of the plank had been reached.

FORTY POISONED BY EATING STRAWBERRY PIES IN CLEVELAND

Think Milk Used In Pastry Spoiled;
Probe Underway

CLEVELAND, June 6.—Poisoned strawberry pies were blamed by police and health department investigators today for an epidemic of ptomaine poisoning which caused illness to more than forty persons, many of them children, here.

A well-known baking company made the pies, according to Health Commissioner Harold J. Knapp. Commissioner Knapp called all city physicians to assist in handling the patients today. None of the cases reported thus far was serious but reports were still coming to police.

Commissioner Knapp, after a preliminary analysis of samples of the pies, said he believed the poisoning was caused by spoiling of the cream used in the pastry.

The warm weather yesterday and Saturday probably hastened the growth of bacteria in the cream, he said.

Although in each instance the victims became violently ill, usually about two hours after eating the pie, physicians said they would recover.

BALLOTS ARE HELD TO ALLOW RECOUNT IN CLOSE CONTEST

"Mystery" Cleared By
Brown; Congress
Race Involved

COLUMBUS, O., June 6.—Impounding of the primary election ballots by all county election boards was ordered to permit a recount, if necessary, in the contest between L. T. Palmer, Middle-town and Lieutenant Colonel Thomas J. Herbert, Cleveland, for one of the Republican nominations for congressman-at-large, Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown explained today.

Palmer has a lead of approximately sixty votes over Herbert for the nomination, on the official returns certified to Brown by the local election boards. All the boards have been asked by Brown to recheck their precinct figures and make a recertification of their totals, to guard against any mistake in tabulation that might have changed the result.

Request for the recertification was sent out at the same time Brown issued his order to the election boards to preserve the ballots. In the absence of such an order, the boards could legally have destroyed the ballots after June 9.

Representatives from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will attend. Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City is understood to be slated as the Smith floor leader. Three men have been mentioned to make the Smith nominating speech. They are John W. Davis, of New York; Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, and Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts.

MAYOR SENTENCED

Eighteen months in a federal prison and a fine of $1,000 for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law is the sentence imposed on Mayor George R. Dale, above of Muncie, Ind., a well-known figure in Indiana politics. Dale was the chief defendant in the Muncie liquor conspiracy case in which Chief of Police Frank Masie and nine others were convicted.

No reports of possible casualties were received from either town. Communication systems throughout the district were not disrupted.

Eureka is a town of approximately 12,500 population, and is the county seat of Humboldt County.

REPORT FLEMING TO RETRACT ARTICLE

PIQUA, O., June 6.—Trial on a libel charge of Grover W. Fleming, publisher of the Ohio Examiner, scheduled to have been held in municipal court here today was postponed until June 15.

The continuance was asked by L. E. Harvey, county prosecutor who indicated that a compromise in the case was probable. It was understood that Fleming agreed to pay all the costs of the case which was heard several weeks ago. The jury disagreed after voting for hours, eleven to one for conviction. The costs amount to about $200 and in addition Fleming was to retract. It was said, a story he printed about Patrolman Charles Sauer of Piqua in which he allegedly accused the officer of stealing property belonging to Mrs. Mary Sauer, his aunt and ward. It was this article that resulted in Fleming's arrest on the libel charge.

BONUS ARMY PLANS MOVE ON CONGRESS TO INFLUENCE VOTE

Part Of Cleveland Group
Remains To Fight
Railroad

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Bugle calls routed the 2,500 members of the grim and tattered "bonus expeditionary force" from their camps today for a "big push" on congress.

With a vote assured in the house next Monday on the Patman bill to pay $2,000,000,000 to war veterans, nearly every one of the 2,500 was ordered to converge on the house office buildings and besiege congressmen with appeals for support. Tomorrow evening the "army" will make a mass demonstration, parading to the White House and capitol.

A vote on the Patman measure was assured when the necessary 145 representatives signed a petition forcing the bill to the floor. It is conceded that sentiment for the bonus is increasing somewhat in the house. But even if the unexpected should happen and the house passed the bonus, a presidential veto remains certain.

Despite the hopelessness of their cause and a shortage of food, the veterans are grimly determined to wait it out and see the house vote. Then and then only will they consider leaving. They are unmoved by the edict of the District of Columbia commissioners that the bonus cease feeding them on Thursday morning and eject them from their four improved barracks and one open-air camp on the banks of the Potomac.

"I'm sticking right here," said one. "They can't shoot you for standing still."

CLEVELAND, O., June 6.—Threatening to take over the signal system of the Pennsylvania Railroad, 420 bonus marchers today were preparing to move to Brady Lake, one of the Pennsylvania's important switching points.

The 420 ex-service men, last of the army of more than 1,000 that mobilized here early Saturday, camped last night at the Ohio Jockey race track in Maple Heights.

Their leaders, John Pace of Detroit and C. B. Cowan of Cleveland, said "our ultimate objective is to get to Washington, but our immediate objective is to whip the Pennsylvania Railroad and make them provide us transportation."

Other members of the army already had given up the "seize" of the railroad and are taking whatever transportation offers itself to Washington, where they will present their demands for immediate cash payment of the bonus to Washington.

A delegation of 267 men, most of them Clevelanders, were furnished transportation to Akron last night in trucks provided by the Cleveland police department.

OPEN AIR LIBRARY PLANNED
BOSTON—An open-air library, similar to those in Spanish parks, where visitors may read in comfort during warm weather, will be established on Boston Common this summer.

HOUSES FALL; FALLING WALL KILLS WOMAN

Four Shocks Sweep
Section of State; Several Hurt

EUREKA, Calif., June 6.—An earthquake, starting at 12:45 a. m. (3:45 a. m. EST), today shook down numerous buildings here and in nearby towns, and caused the death of at least one person.

Several persons were reported injured, but a hospital check had not been completed. Four shocks were felt, of about equal intensity, it was reported. Windows in practically all buildings were demolished, and many homes shaken down according to first reports from the area.

Mrs. Wallace McCutcheon, 35, was killed and her husband received a broken leg when a wall toppled on them as they slept in their rooming house.

The quake caused a large section of earth to slide over the highway leading from Eureka to San Francisco, about two miles south of the city.

Crescent City, county seat of Del Norte County, about eighty-five miles north of Eureka, and Arcata, seven miles north, were both reported to have suffered extensive property damage.

No reports of possible casualties were received from either town. Communication systems throughout the district were not disrupted.

Eureka is a town of approximately 12,500 population, and is the county seat of Humboldt County.

RUN-OFF NEEDED TO DECIDE RACE

RALEIGH, N. C., June 6.—A wet, Robert B. Reynolds, Asheville, today maintained a lead over a dry, United States Senator Cameron Morrison, Charlotte, for the Democratic nomination for United States senator from North Carolina, a state that has been dry since 1908.

But Reynolds had not won a majority of the votes cast in Saturday's state primary, and the wet-dry battle of the primary campaign will be waged again in the run-off vote July 2, unless he can pick up 4,000 votes in the 360 outstanding precincts.

Other candidates were Thomas C. Bowie, former superior court judge, Frank Grist, state commissioner of labor, and Arthur Simmons, poultry farmer of Burlington. The returns in the senate race from 1,466 precincts gave Reynolds 126,509; Morrison 121,335; Bowie 26,539; Grist 21,675; Simmons 2,546.

AUTO DRIVER DOZES AND THREE INJURED AS MACHINE UPSETS
Three colored residents of Xenia, including two women, were injured, one painfully but not seriously, when the driver of their sedan dozed at the wheel and the machine slipped down a six-foot embankment and upset in a ditch after striking the cement abutment of a bridge spanning a culvert on the Cincinnati Pike, one-fourth of a mile north of Mt. Holly, at 11:30 p. m. Sunday.

Paul Honaker, 31, of 1023 E. Second St., driver of the auto, told authorities he "must have gone to sleep at the wheel" as he and two women companions were returning to this city after a trip to near Lebanon.

Honaker received a cut on the chin and Mrs. Henry Smith, 60, of 933 E. Main St., was scratched about the face and complained of a wrenched back. Mrs. Gertrude Wilkinson, 53, of 807 E. West St., the most painfully injured of the trio, suffered a cut on the upper lip that required twelve stitches to close, several of her front teeth were knocked loose, and her right leg and knee were injured.

Road Patrolman L. A. Davis, who, with Sheriff John Baughn and Chief Deputy Walton Spahr, investigated the accident, brought the victims of the mishap to McClelland Hospital here for treatment.

The sedan driven by Honaker, officers said, swerved across the highway and crashed into the abutment on the opposite side.

EDDIE GUEST BACK IN GAZETTE
IN the homely but inspiring philosophy found in the rhymes of Edgar A. Guest, "poet of the people," many a troubled soul has found solace. Daily they run the gamut of the emotions, from joy to pathos, from gentle humor to the more serious side of life, but always with sympathy and understanding.

Through a quarter of a century, this kindly bard has sung his songs daily in the newspapers so that millions have responded to his wholesome philosophies.

The Gazette thus is pleased to announce that "Just Folks," the title under which Guest writes, is again restored to the columns of this newspaper.

Once Gazette readers enjoyed his daily rhyming in this paper. Now it is hoped that they will again delight in his poetry and that new readers may enjoy the charm that is Eddie Guest's.

PRESIDENTIALLY SPEAKING

Who's Who of Candidates

By CHARLES P. STEWART
GOVERNOR FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT has the looks for a president—a magnificent head; a bold, handsome face; though perforce it is inactive, a massive big-nosed figure.

Disciplined ability expresses itself in every idea he utters. His manner is both dignified and affable.

Folk who have known him intimately since his boyhood testify that never was there a higher-minded, finer fellow.

Nevertheless, he is a disappointment to an interviewer.

It was one day last fall that I called at his Albany office, seeking an interview with him as a presidential possibility. On that understanding he received me readily—and not a syllable on any subject of national interest could I extract from him. One expects a presidential possibility to speak nationally. Governor Roosevelt refused on the ground that, as governor of New York, national issues, were beyond his purview.

Other newspaper men of my acquaintance tell me that they have had similar experiences with him. There also have been mutual wonderings amongst us why it is that the governor, although he has expressed himself with adequate wetness to satisfy many wets, does not appear to have alienated many drys thereby. True, he has alienated the "ultras," but the dry Democratic south seems generally reconciled to his presidential nomination. There likewise is a wet element which holds that genuine wets always recognized an inherent viciousness in prohibition. This element remains suspicious of the New Yorker, who once was a dry. However, with most wets, his present wetness passes muster.

To do him strict justice, it is hardly fair to say that the governor is evasive on economics, either. As to power, he is sufficiently liberal to have won Senator George W. Norris' endorsement. Al Smith, by plain innuendo, recently accused him of "setting class against class" in the matter of unemployment relief. Such support and criticism surely sound convincing.

The governor's position on vital questions, then, cannot exactly be called ambiguous—and yet, somehow, folk on the opposite side of these same questions, from him, appear singularly less perturbed than one would anticipate, at suggestions of him for the presidency.

LILY OF THE NILE
By DEAN HALLIDAY
Garden Expert for Central Press and The Gazette

"I have a lily in my garden which was given to me as a Lily of the Nile," said my neighbor, "but now I am told that it is really an African Lily. Can you tell me what its true name is?"

"Your plant is botanically known as Agapanthus umbellatus, and Lily of the Nile is one of its commonest names. It is also called African Lily, which is perhaps more correct and descriptive, as it is a native of the Cape of Good Hope," I explained.

The Lily of the Nile, or African Lily, is a summer flowering bulb, but can very easily be forced for early spring bloom. It is oftenest used as an accent plant for the garden in summer, or set on a porch of terrace, always being potted. Often it is planted in tubs rather than in pots, as the roots increase so fast and are so thick they may burst pots. The plants can be left in the same tub for a number of years, if liquid manure is fed to them at blooming time.

When dormant the Lily of the Nile will stand as much as ten degrees of frost. It is usually wintered in a cold basement or shed with slight protection if necessary.

There are many horticultural varieties of this plant with flowers of different shades of blue. There is also considerable variety in height.

3 table-cloths 5 children's nightclothes 5 pairs socks

3 aprons 2 house-dresses 2 pairs pajamas

"And in addition to that I scrubbed the floors twice, cleaned the sink and tubs several times—and did the dishes 36 times."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

In famine he shall redeem thee from death; and in war from the power of the sword.—Job, v. 20.

TO RUN AMUCK

At this distance almost any guess about what is going to happen in Germany is good enough. Many guess that 65,000,000 of the sturdiest people in Europe are not going to run amuck. They are too reasonably to sacrifice their own interests on the altar of unreason.

The swing back toward the militarists should not be misunderstood. A large part of the German electorate was brought up in the old army school. That worked for efficiency and discipline. The tradition survives. What is more natural than that Germany should turn in the hour of its economic travail to that same discipline and efficiency? We complain of Congressional verbosity in this country. The Germans are direct actionists.

The disposition to discover in recent events in Germany an outcropping of the soldier in President von Hindenburg has little foundation in probability. That rock of strength to Germany has been, whatever his personal opinion of republicanism may be, a loyal adherent to the Constitution of Weimar and the German Republic. If he has now encouraged the formation of a cabinet dominated by the army element it is because he feels that the German people want that sort of government. Washington had a less difficult task in making a nation out of 13 colonies than von Hindenburg has had in sustaining the German republic among embittered neighbors. The Atlantic helped Washington.

Whatever may happen in Germany, a single fact stands out unchallengeable: A nation of upwards of 65,000,000 people in the heart of Europe cannot be allowed to go to pieces because of ultranational circumstances. The world in general has too much to lose thereby. At Lausanne it may be discovered to what lengths other powers are willing to go to forestall such a calamity.

AZANA'S PLAN

The Spanish premier, Manuel Azana, has laid before the Assembly in Madrid, a plan to convert Spain "into a union of federated states similar to the United States, except that they will be under complete control of the National Government." Just how a union of federated states can be similar to the United States and still be under complete control of a national government, is rather difficult to figure out; but emergence of the fact that Catalonia constitutes the problem which has called forth the Premier's proposal, suggests that perhaps the "complete control" will be more nominal than real in at least one instance. The problem is how to persuade the Catalans not to secede. In order to keep them within the control of Madrid, it is being proposed that they retain the right to use their own language in official business within their state, and to direct their own educational, economic and social systems. The "complete control" probably will be exercised over other and more docile parts of Spain.

Aside from that, it is quite logical for Spain to organize itself as a system of federated states. The country was built up out of such states in the beginning and through a long process of war, development and consolidation, which was not completed until the marriage of Ferdinand of Aragon and Isabella of Castile and Leon.

THE BETTER WAY

The following adaptation of the twenty third Psalm was written by a business man of Pasadena, California:

"The Lord is the source of my supply; I shall not want.
He restoreth me in sleep when worry will sap my vitality.
He reneweth my courage when the battle goeth against me.
He openeth my eyes to the hidden possibilities in me.
He leadeth me into paths of new opportunities.
When my faith in him is strong, I am unafraid.
Yes, he even enableth me to face failure courageously.
When I am exhausted, he giveth me new strength.
When my way is blocked he openeth up new paths;
When all my plans go awry he giveth me a new sense of values.
Fortune indeed is the man who hath discovered his greatest friend.
O, Lord, help me to sustain my faith."

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

That the United States is moving toward wealth distribution through its savings deposits, is the opinion expressed by Wilson G. Wing, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

In a recent article he said:

"It is remarkable that in the past three years the $28,000,000,000 savings of the American people have been so well maintained, and that the distribution is so well diversified.

"No other country in the world has ever had one-half of its bank deposits in this form of savings, and it would seem that we are steadily working toward that ideal distribution of wealth of which so much has been said.

"Depositors in the mutual savings banks of this country own approximately 35 per cent of the nation's savings, and their deposits approximate $1,233,000,000 more than at this time three years ago."

"SHOW ME"

Some men enlighten by their lives. Some by their deaths. Col. Willard D. Vandiver, who has just been gathered to his fathers, at Columbia, Mo., appears to have done both. Alive, Col. Vandiver challenged the world: "I am from Missouri. You have got to show me." An erudite obituarist now takes advantage of his death to elucidate the often disputed origin of that picturesque phrase.

The story is this: As the Colonel himself told it, shortly before he died at the age of 78: When he was in Congress he was invited to attend a banquet in Philadelphia. Gov. Hull was also to attend. When they arrived at the Quaker City they discovered that it was to be a full-dress affair. As neither of them had evening clothes handy they agreed to go in their business suits. Without the Colonel's knowledge, Gov. Hull sneaked off and hired a swallow-tail. At the dinner he praised the hospitality and enterprise of a city whose tailors could turn out a full-dress suit in 15 minutes.

Col. Vandiver was mad all the way through and decided to make the "meanest" speech he could lay his tongue to. After ridiculing the Governor and deriding Philadelphia he ended with this peroration:

I come from a State that raises corn and cotton and cockleburrs and Democrats, and frothy eloquence neither convinces nor satisfies me. I am from Missouri. You have got to show me.

The official motto of Missouri is the Latin equivalent of "The Welfare of the People is the Supreme Law." The unofficial motto of it has long been, "Show Me." The two are not incompatible.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK.—Pick-ups and put-downs:

James Cagney reminds me subtly of the late John Reed, canonized by the Soviets. Every time I shut my eyes I see that non-skid soap with handles, in the recent past show, invented by an 11-year-old girl. And the light-house for submarines... them closed I see. When I keep that East Side sign: "Grand Hotel. Rooms, 50c." Greenwich Village, actual or in spirit, are taking boats to Mallorca, an island off the coast of Spain, where it's possible to live gracefully on half a buck a day. The influx of names to the place will probably lift prices before the last boatload of hopefuls has made port this summer.

Summer nights... The refreshment parlor on Broadway with the hot jazz band where you can dance free if you buy a nickel drink. My sudden yen for poetry while thumbing through a counter display of tomes on the economic situation. But Hart Crane committed suicide because nobody understands poets. Funny chap Crane, jumping off an ocean liner that way. I met him years ago at a Village party, and he was talking then about a new world on the way, when everybody would be happy.

Dorothy Peterson, of the talkies, has played only "character" roles, mothers, elderly aunts and so on, although she is yet to see her 25th birthday. I am informed that the reason there are so many competent portrayals of silver-threads-among-the-gold parts is that most of the specialists start young. When I was Dashiell Hammett going to write another of his salty and, you might say, romantically brutal, tales?

COME DOWN, SALARY UP. Frances Williams, the svelte songstress, late of "Everybody's Welcome," with the voice like deep-toned china, is drawing $4,000 a week in the five-day movie palaces. She hates it, but ladies must live. I never understood the aversion of musical comedy stars to appearances in those shows at flicker cathedrals like the Paramount and the Capitol. They get known to millions that way, where they were known to thousands before. Of course, it's harder work.

Fred Freudenburgh, who wrote "Soldiers March" is off on a Mediterranean cruise, via one of the inexpensive trading boats. He plans finishing one novel, he tells me, and starting another. The one on the fire ought to click because it deals with life in the coal fields, where there has been plenty happening of late. He wasn't by the way, one of the literateurs who crusaded down to Kentucky in the name of the workmen and publicity, to return, as Mencken phrased it, "with their heads in towels."

SAVE MONEY LUXURIATING. Not a few folk with fixed incomes have found it cheaper to wander through the exotic ports of the world than to stay at home. Those budgeteering adventures have my rapt admiration. If I were given a free trip around the world, I'd arrive back in New York without money to pay cab fare home from Brooklyn.

PRODIGAL'S RETURN—1932

Uncle Sam May Be In The Red Even After Balancing Budget Owing To Business Shrinkage

WASHINGTON.—Considering how hard Congress has worked for the last six months at its job of budget-balancing, it comes as a shock to discover that Uncle Sam may be in the red again at the end of the 1932-33 fiscal year, maybe by as much as a billion. Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, who furnished the estimates with which the law makers have been struggling so desperately, seems, it is true, to have been approximately correct in his arithmetic at the time he did his original ciphering. That, however, was away back last December. As of the present writing, certain of Capitol Hill's financial experts argue, conditions are altogether different from what they were when he worked out his problem.

Presumably most folk are aware that today's treasury deficit is due to a shrinkage in tax collections which were ample during the boom period of high prices, princely incomes and a perfect ferment of revenue-yielding activity. That is to say, there have been no reductions in rates since the Coolidge administration, but the same old taxes have not brought in as much as they did before the depression hit the country.

To meet this situation Secretary Mills, while still Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon's undersecretary, suggested a schedule of new imposts, which he assured Congress would raise enough additional money to cover the government's requirements, provided economies were effected to a total of about 300 millions.

In accordance with this program,

Congress waded into its job of budget-balancing.

If it can hardly be said that it was progressing harmoniously with this task, at least it was progressing with a fair degree of hopefulness up to the date of President Hoover's recent conference on the subject of the economic status of the Union, with a score or so of newspaper publishers from the eastern half of the United States.

It was at that gathering that something or other was said which precipitated an investigation to determine whether or not Secretary Mills' calculations are as sound now as it previously had been supposed they were.

Just what occurred to arouse such a feeling of skepticism is not at all clear—some chance remark, probably, that set one of the publishers a-wondering out loud, and presently all Washington was a-wondering similarly. This simply goes to show how important it is for White House visitors never to repeat anything they may happen to hear there.

Anyway, the puzzle is: When Secretary Mills estimated, late in 1931 or early in 1932, that such-and-such taxes would yield such-and-such a sum, did he take into account the possibility that they might yield no such sum by mid-1932—in the event of a still further decline in prices and the volume of business?

And if he did not take this contingency into account, can it now be so confidently predicted that the schedule he proposed will balance the budget?

Secretary Mills showed signs of impatience when the foregoing questions were put to him. He said: "Admitting that the situation has changed since these estimates were submitted, we (the treasury) can't undertake to revise them every month or two."

Nevertheless Secretary Mills has had to begin to revise them. In an estimate accompanying President Hoover's address to Congress, the treasury head placed the shortage at $285,000,000 above his original computation. Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, who is a critic of the administration, has hinted that the shortage may run to $700,000,000—if business shrinkage continues.

Besides, the stipulated $300,000,000 in economies remains to be effected.

Seven hundred millions plus 300 of them equal a billion.

Naturally Congress would be greatly disappointed, after trying so hard to balance the budget, to learn that it had missed it by a billion.

Remedies For Hay Fever

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

August fifteenth is the date, but whoever is interested had better be getting ready for it now. The opening of the American hay fever season is usually prompt and according to schedule.

The number of people in the United States who are affected can only be determined by guess work or calculation, but it is probably not fewer than one in ten. In the Mississippi valley, including the valleys of the Ohio and Missouri, the home of the ragweed, it must be higher than that. The ragweed in these regions is extremely abundant, and it gives more people hay fever in a more virulent form than any other plant. The Mississippi valley, then, its favorite habitat, is the plague spot of the world for hay fever.

Something like 12 to 20 million people, therefore, are more or less incapacitated during the last two weeks of August and all of September from this disease, in the United States alone, every year. The amount of their incapacity ranges from mild discomfort to complete prostration. For most of them there is a considerable economic loss.

In view of such a situation, methods of control of the disease are extremely important. Methods of treatment are practically useless. Of methods of prevention there are three with any possibilities of success.

First, is the vaccine treatment, using a solution of the ragweed pollen for the vaccine. To be successful the treatment must be begun early. Most practitioners who have handled such cases believe the injections should be begun six to twelve weeks before the attack is expected. In some cases the treatment is completely successful. In others there is no benefit obtained whatever.

The second method is the use of pollen filters in the bedroom. If economically feasible also in the room inhabited in the daytime, office or house. These filters fit into any window. If the room is otherwise kept closed they act efficiently in practically every case. Their cost is no more than the charge ordinarily made for a course of vaccines. Employers who have many employees with hay fever would probably profit by installing such filters in their offices.

The third method of prevention is the destruction of ragweed plants early in the season. If city departments of health in neighboring cities would agree among themselves to cut all weeds in vacant lots, along fences and railroad tracks, from July 1 to August 15, it would undoubtedly mitigate this nuisance considerably.

Boy Friend Worries Girl

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

It is trite to say that "it's the little things that count." And yet the truth of that remark comes to one with great force now and then. For instance, a girl writes me that she is in love with a certain boy—is sure she loves him, and will stand by him although he's out of work at present.

But two things about him worry her: One is his appearance. He doesn't look his nationality.

The other is his family, who are different from hers and her friends. More uncouth, although perfectly respectable.

The first may easily be brushed aside as of no consequence. He is what he is and it matters very little if he happens to be light or dark, fat or thin, as long as he is a good, clean young chap.

The second is more serious. The type of family she marries into DOES make a good deal of difference to a girl. She DOES marry the whole family, more or less, when she takes unto herself a husband. She wants to be able to feel at home with them, to love them and to take pleasure in visiting them. If they are subtly "different," and especially a type that she cannot feel proud to introduce to her friends, it is a very real humiliation to her, no matter how gallantly she may fight the feeling down.

The only answer is, of course, to be sure she cares enough for the man to accept his family, learn to love them for their virtues and to overlook their shortcomings. In some ways she may find them superior to her own friends, in spite of their gaudieries.

And in one way she can admit—and love her boy friend all the more in such case, because she can see how he has made much of himself in spite of family handicaps.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: In reading over the Living and Loving column I was quite interested in seeing 'Disillusioned' cite her case, and would like to tell her my experience.

"I am married to a man who is about 45 years of age, but will say one thing, he is just about the opposite of her husband. Wants to take in all the dances, shows, etc. In fact, he never goes out evenings without me.

"It's more a question of love and devotion, I think, than age. Rather marry a man you love and respect than a youth with millions if you don't care for him.

"No, Disillusioned, you are decidedly wrong when you say a girl doesn't want a man around 35 or 40 years of age. Remember this: when a girl is 26 or more she's classed as an old maid by many, and a good many men and boys don't care to park on her doorstep then, either.

"So you see it's almost a case of 'six of one and half a dozen of the other.'

"HAPPY AND CONTENTED." I think you are very right when you say that it is a case of love and devotion rather than age. You can't make generalizations. It is always the individual that counts.

And I agree with you that it is much better to marry a man you can love and respect than one you don't care for, even if the latter is nearer your own age.

But I disagree with you entirely on the statement that girls of 26 are "old maids." Of course I know there ARE people who have such foolish notions, but thank goodness they are few and far between. At any rate I don't meet them very often. The modern girl of 26 or older is anything but an old maid. She is at her most attractive time. Better to wait a few more years and be sure you are marrying someone with whom you can be happy, than wed an older man who may prove an unsuitable companion—an old man when you are in your prime.

I am very glad for your happiness, Happy and Contented. The years make very little difference to a man like your husband.

A NICE GIRL says she writes in answer to "Still Hopeful's" letter, and that she too is out for a good time without petting or having a wild party.

"There aren't many fellows who are the type I am looking for. I am going to be 18 next month so perhaps I have plenty of time yet. Well, here's good luck to you, Still Hopeful."

And to you A Nice Girl. May you both find the Prince Charming you are looking for.

Two Shades Of Hair Smart

By GLADYS GLAD

Some of the coiffure fads that made their debuts during the past year certainly were startling. But the new fad that has just originated in London is, I think, the most striking of all. For it calls for two contrasting shades of hair. In brunettes hair, a white or blonde streak is made down one side of the head. And in blonde hair, a brown streak is placed in the hair.

Hair of two contrasting colors arranged in this manner, so that the operator who is to do the dyeing will be able to see the exact shade your hair is naturally. And if you have the dying done by an expert (which of course you should do), the bleached hair will be colored to perfectly match the natural shade of your hair.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Reducing. Vivian: The reducing course in my "New Figure" booklet is indeed guaranteed to take off 8 to 10 pounds in two weeks. It is, so my knowledge, one of the most healthful reducing routines in existence.

Standard Weight. Sally: The standard weight for a girl 5 feet 4 inches tall and 18 years of age is about 122 pounds.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED

Resignation of the Downtown Country Club team from the National Softball League, announced Saturday, was in protest to a decision of the Softball Commission declaring forfeit to the champion Lang Chevrolet, the Memorial Day contest between the Downtowners and Langs.

The commission held that the holiday contest should have been played as scheduled, or that the Downtowners team should have had an agreement with Langs not to play the game.

The Downtowners, knowing that in previous years it had been customary to postpone all games scheduled on holidays, had not thought it necessary to appear at the field or to notify Langs that it would not show up.

While the Softball Commission has not issued a statement on the matter, in fairness to the other five competing National League teams, it is considered likely that the four league contests in which the Downtowners participated prior to their withdrawal, will be thrown into discard.

The Downtowners had won from Langs and Spring Valley, and had been beaten by Anderson's Abattoirs and the Xenia Chick Hatchery. Their first round game with Coate's Barbers was rained out. In the event of cancellation of these four games, the revised league standing would be as follows:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Lang Chevrolet	4	0	1.000
Anderson's	3	2	.600
Hatchery	2	2	.500
Sp. Valley	1	3	.250
Barbers	1	4	.200

The depression has hit the batting average of Lou McCoy, catcher for Coate's Barbers. We would like to call attention to the shrinkage in his average. After the first three games of the National League softball season, Lou boasted a mighty mark of .555 and was tied for the league batting leadership. In the last two games he hit safely only once in eight times up, and the average has diminished to .352, which is still pretty good, however.

While Lou was going into a batting slump, "Polly" Parrett, Downtown slugger, with whom he was tied for the league hitting lead, promoted his own mark from .555 to a dizzy .692 figure by hitting safely four straight times in his next contest.

MONDAY NIGHT OPEN IN SOFTBALL LOOP

Transferred from Thursday night a double-header between the O. S. and S. O. Home cadets and the Ex-Highs in the American League will initiate this week's softball program Tuesday night.

Monday night will be an open date because the Downtown Country Club, which withdrew from the National League, was scheduled to play the Xenia Chick Hatchery.

Anderson's Abattoirs will face Spring Valley on Wednesday night, and on Thursday night, the American League contest between Central High and Company L. shifted from Tuesday night, will be played.

A National League tilt between the Lang Chevrolet and Coate's Barbers will wind up the week's program Friday night.

KILKARE TEAM WINS TWO AND LOSES ONE

The Kilkare Park Club team evidently likes to play softball. It crowded three contests into a single afternoon Sunday on the Kilkare Park diamond, winning the first two games and losing the third for its initial defeat of the season.

C. Massie pitched the Kilkare team to a 10 to 3 triumph over the Zimmerman Markets in the first game of the triple-header. In the second game, with W. Massie on the mound, Kilkare swamped Mill, 16 to 2.

Meeting the Xenia Chick Hatchery team of the Xenia National League in the third contest, Kilkare lost, 3 to 1. Lloyd Downey twirled for the hatchery and was opposed by C. Massie, who had pitched the first contest of the afternoon.

CEDARVILLE ROBBERY LOOT IS RECOVERED; FOURTH ARRESTED

Recovery of all the loot taken in robberies at the Wolford garage and Standard Oil Co. filling station at Cedarville last Wednesday night was announced Monday by Sheriff John Baughn, following the arrest of a Columbus tire dealer as a fourth suspect in the case, Saturday.

Three men who had nine stolen tires in their possession when arrested by Columbus police Friday, revealed to authorities the identity of the tire dealer to whom they had allegedly sold the remaining three tires and a few inner tubes.

The balance of the stolen property was located at a point sixteen miles north of Columbus, where the tires and tubes had been concealed under a culvert. A few tools,

THINNING OF FRUIT IMPROVES SIZE AND GRADE SAY EXPERTS

The size, color and grade of fruit may be improved by proper thinning, according to C. S. Holland, extension horticulturist who demonstrated fruit thinning before a large group of fruit growers at the Charles Kinsey orchard Friday afternoon.

He said that thinning improved size and color because each individual fruit does not have as much competition for its food supply. It improves grade because culls removed in thinning are disposed of. Other advantages of this practice are that the breakage is reduced, the vigor of the tree improved, better control of insect pests is obtained, and all fruit handling costs, including picking, grading, packing and marketing, are lowered. Early thinning prevents June drop and gives best size development on the fruit, which is important for the early market. Among the summer varieties especially improved by thinning are Transparent, Dutchess and Wealthy, he said.

It was recommended that on the average, fruit be thinned to one apple every six inches. Peaches should be 4 to 6 inches apart. The importance of soil fertility in fruit production was emphasized by Mr. Holland and a cultural program for young orchards outlined by the extension horticulturist. The first half of June, the soybeans to be plowed under and a seeding of rye or oats as a winter cover crop. For mature orchards a three year sod rotation in which red, alsike or sweet clover is seeded was recommended.

In the forenoon several orchards were visited and soil management demonstrated. This was the second of a series of fruit growers' schools conducted by County Agent E. A. Drake in cooperation with county fruit growers.

The fifty-cent general admission price which has prevailed at the Greene County Fair for many years will be reduced to twenty-five cents for the 1932 fair in August, it was decided at a meeting of the fair board Saturday.

The lower admission price applies to all fair patrons more than 12 years of age. For children under 12 years, no change in the former fee of twenty-five cents was announced.

A charge of twenty-five cents will be made, however, for automobiles admitted to the fairgrounds. Formerly vehicles were admitted free to the grounds. The board also announced that the coupon charge for poultry at the fair will be five cents per head, but that this charge will be assessed only against single bird entries and not against exhibition pens. Other fees to be charged will remain the same as listed in the 1932 fair catalogue.

Upholds Walker EFFORT TO CONTROL FOWL POX PLANNED AT XENIA MEETING

A campaign to control fowl pox was outlined Thursday evening at the Court House when veterinarians met with representatives of the Division of Animal Husbandry, Poultry Extension Department and the hatcherymen of Greene County.

The meeting was called by County Agent E. A. Drake at the request of poultrymen who report that fowl pox is rapidly becoming a serious menace to the commercial flock owner and that last winter it reached epidemic proportions in sections. Fowl pox is a highly infectious disease which can be prevented by vaccinating young stock before the combs begin to develop. The project, as outlined at the meeting, will consist of an organized effort to acquaint poultrymen with the disease and an application for vaccination will be filled out by the flock owner. A uniform price for vaccination of not to exceed 25¢ per bird was agreed upon by those present.

Last year a similar campaign was carried on in twenty-five counties with more than 60,000 birds vaccinated. The mortality in treated flocks was less than 1% while in untreated flocks mortality averaged 17%.

Dr. J. D. Burris of the Division of Animal Husbandry and C. M. Ferguson, extension poultryman, spoke of the disease and outlined control measures that had been successfully used in other counties. Veterinarians present from the county were Drs. Leo Anderson and Ralph Kennon of Cedarville; John Ayer and C. E. States of Xenia; Aubrey Lane of Wilberforce and W. M. Henry of James-town.

Representatives of hatcheries and flock owners were also present.

Receipts, 2 cars; mkt., 15¢ lower. Mediums, 180-230 lbs., $3.20 to $3.30. Heavy, 230-300 lbs., $3.20

Roland Gaines Youngest Member Of WLW Staff

By MILDRED MASON This column introduces to you today, Roland Gaines, who holds the distinction of being the youngest member of the staff of WLW, Cincinnati. And as they say down in the hills of old Kentucky, from whence Roland came, he "has just turned seventeen."

Although Master Gaines is scarcely out of knee breeches, this native son of Berea, Ky., can pick more synopocating melody on his guitar, than can most artists of this instrument. It is said the youth literally grew up with a guitar in one hand and a squirrel gun in the other. When he was 12 years old he won first prize as the county's best guitar player at the Berea fair.

During the past five months Roland has been broadcasting over WLW with Lane's Mountaineer Fiddlers as guitar and vocal soloist. He also specializes in yodeling.

Introduces New Number. Ray Perkins will introduce a new number, "Oh To Be a Turtle" in his program over an NBC network through WLW, Cincinnati, Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. His other two featured numbers will be "The King Was in the Counting House" and "Wal i Swan" and of course, he will pop his peppy patter between the musical selections.

Feature Baritone.
J. Alden Edkins, baritone and Axtator Kent prize winner in the 1931 audition, will be featured with Erno Rapee and a thirty-five piece orchestra in a series of four programs, the first to be heard over an NBC network through WSAL, Cincinnati, Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Ballads on Program.
"I Send My Love These Roses", "When the Lights Are Soft and Low" and "If I Could Call You Sweetheart" are among the ballads to be heard during a program over WLW, Cincinnati, Tuesday at 8 p. m. featuring Ralph Simpson, tenor and Wally Maher as master of ceremonies.

Hyde Is Guest Speaker.
Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, will be guest speaker on a program featuring Anson Weeks and his orchestra playing from San Francisco and Russ Columbo and his orchestra playing from New York over an NBC network through WSAL, Cincinnati, Tuesday at 9 p. m.

POETRY ADVANCED AS CURE FOR ILLS
CLEVELAND, O., June 6.—Poetry was prescribed as a remedy for the nation's ill by Miss George Elliston, Cincinnati poet, in an address here before the League of American Pen Women.

"You can't have any thoughts of the depression when you have a poem you are living with, dreaming about," she said.

"With the magic and mystery of a poem in your hand you can reach up to touch a cloud or a star."

THE Sacred Eye By BRUCE E. GRIGGS A Story of Mystery and Love in The South Seas

Over the picture washed the gentle sound of the tireless sea.

the lagoon I know Tom and I both wished Larry luck.

Tom reached over and gathered up the sheets where he had copied Utato's instructions about the care of the radio equipment. He read them through in silence. My thoughts were elsewhere.

"You have to kind of like that pup, anyway," Tom said.

"Which one," I queried, raising my eyebrows.

"I was thinking of Utato," he answered.

"A spy in a girl's home?" I said meaningly.

"He's loyal to Livingston."

Tom lit a cigarette and blew a slow lungful of smoke. "You know," he said, "it has been my observation that human virtue is a relative matter. There seems to be a lot of good and bad in all of us. It depends on which side of the fence we are on. A black pearl comes up and there is your 'fence' right now."

"Ah, ever the philosopher," I said lightly, banteringly.

"I have a sneaking hunch that our little girl friend, Pauo, and Livingston might have been on the same side of the fence if it hadn't been for the pearl," he continued, ignoring my facetious interruption.

"It wouldn't surprise me if it were a case of an old infatuation turned to hatred with her. There is nothing that distills a more virulent emotional poison."

"Right!" I said. "That handsome devil-may-care type of male is sure attractive to the female heart. But let a woman discover that while a man will be delighted to take her for a mistress, he wouldn't entertain for a moment the idea of taking her for a wife, giving her his name, and making her the mother of his children; particularly if there is any question of color in the blood—and then see what happens."

"That attraction will probably become a violent repellent," Tom mused.

"I looked at him appraisingly. 'Lord but you threw the fact that Livingston wouldn't marry Pauo because she has a strain of Kanaka blood, into Mr. Holmes' teeth yesterday,' I said. 'It came like the crack of a black-snake lash—'

"Which, my good man," Tom said suavely, "is very often the kindest treatment. I wanted to slap him out of it. I didn't know then if we would ever see the girl again. At that, I am probably prejudiced on this mixed racial blood thing—"

"Did you shake him?"

"I shook him, but not that way. It jarred him plenty," Tom said.

"Yes, so I noticed!"

"He's thinking about it more than he likes to admit," Tom continued, looking at me. "But he is in such deep water that I question whether he'll ever get out. He is frantic—being swirled by an emotion he does not understand."

"That seems to be nature's way of keeping the face of the earth populated," I interrupted. "The"

Tom smoked in silence for a time as we sat there in the cool tower, looking out to where the glittering ocean swept away to the rim of the world, and to the shores of old Tarea, that twisted mountain top with its twin peaks, drowned a million years ago.

Over the picture washed the gentle sound of the tireless sea, and its voice—the booming of the surf.

Don't Envy Film Kiss They Offer Little Bliss

When the handsome movie hero kisses the beautiful heroine you can figure that nine times out of ten the scene was one of the most painful of the entire picture.

Most stars and many directors dread kissing sequences like they would the seven-year itch. Thousands of dollars and days of valuable time may be spent in building up a movie scene which is capped by a kiss. And if the kiss goes flat—well don't think about it.

A sort of tense quiet before the storm attitude strikes the average movie set when the director gets ready to shoot the kissing scene. Even veteran screen lovers get the ridges. It isn't unusual for a pair of screen lovers to walk back for a kiss re-take, addressing each other in the most un-loverlike manner.

Directors say they would rather have two persons not interested in each other for the kissing scenes. They claim that young players who might be in the midst of a sentimental attachment, are embarrassed when they have to kiss before the camera. Sometimes they "smack" and the kiss goes into the sound box like the crack-up of a pair of freight trains.

Many screen kisses aren't kisses at all. For instance if the man's head is directly in front of the camera he may, apparently, press his lips to those of the heroine while actually several inches away from them. Also he may place his lips on a corner of the girl's mouth, getting the pictorial effect of a full kiss while still avoiding the lip-stick.

The screen version of "The First Year" will be a playwright's delight since Director William K.

Howard is using every line of dialogue that Frank Craven wrote into his famous comedy. There'll be additional lines, of course, to connect episodes. The Fox Company has devoted two stages to re-creating the entire village in which this comedy takes place. Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell are said to be very happy about the prospects.

ROUSH RESIGNS AS ROSS SCHOOL HEAD

Terminating a ten-year association with Ross Twp. schools, A. F. Roush, township school superintendent, announces he has accepted a similar post at Brookville, O., for the 1932-33 school year. The Brookville consolidated school has an enrollment of about 800 pupils.

Harry Pickering, principal of Ross High School for the last two years, was promoted to the superintendency to fill the vacancy, by the township board of education.

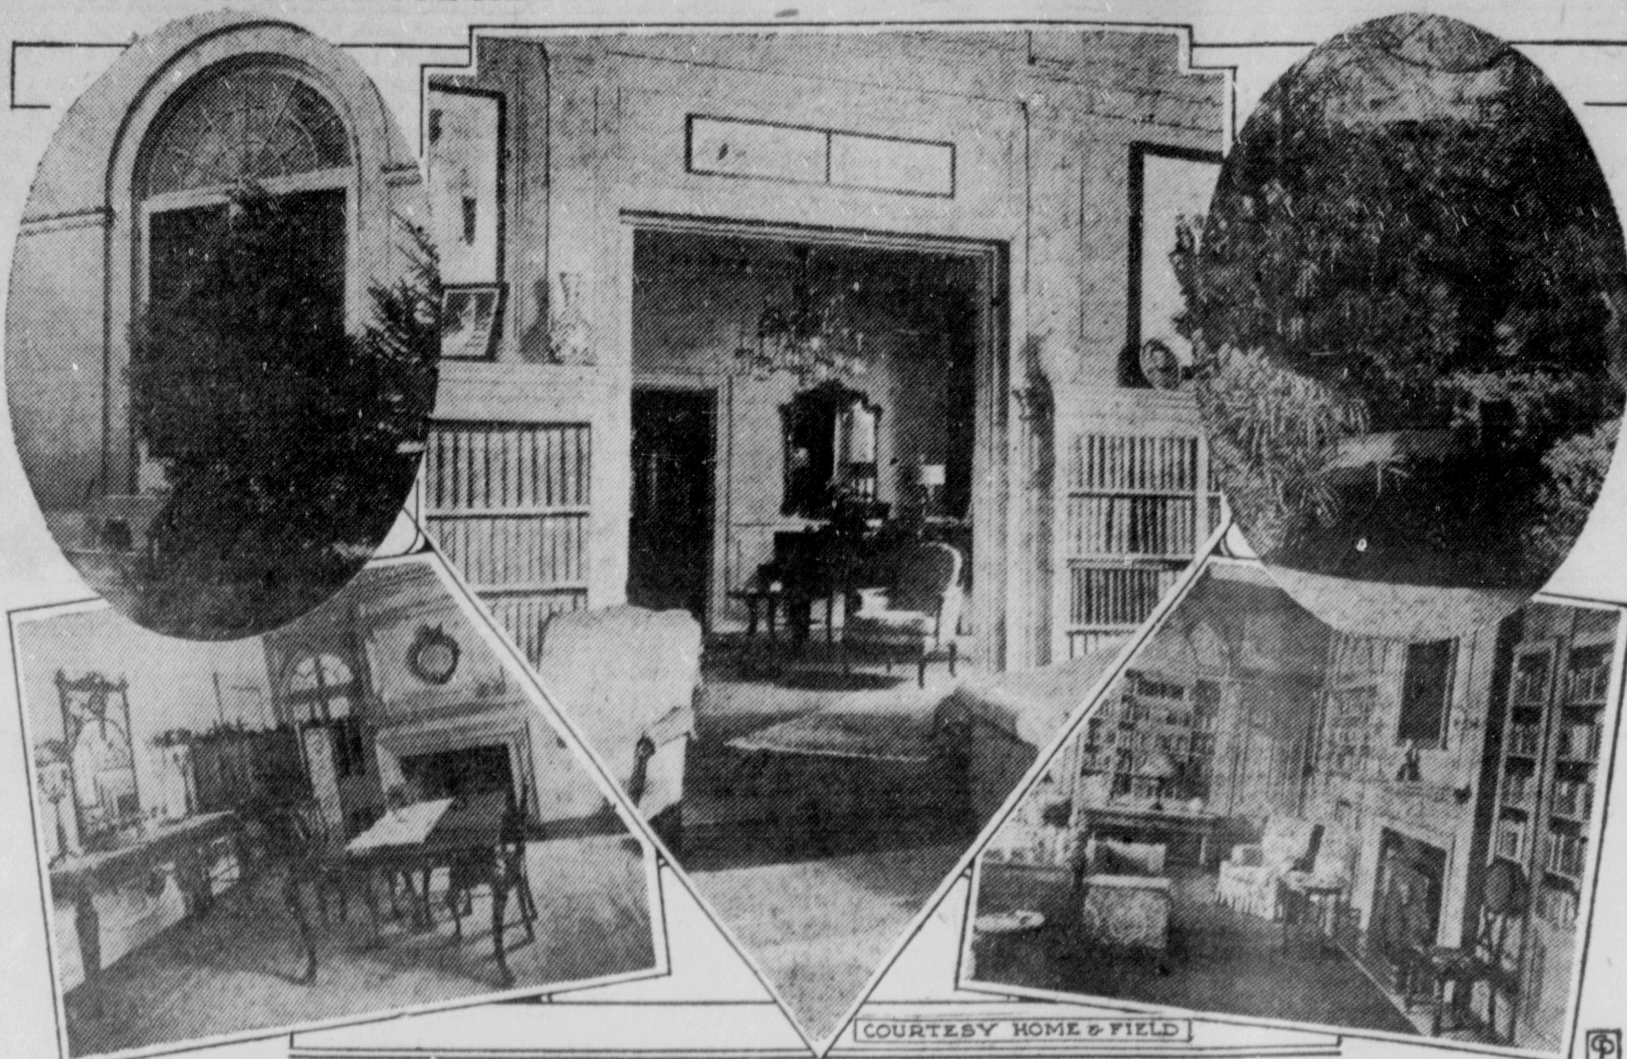

Announcement was also made that Malcolm Turner, Selma, a graduate of Cedarville College, had been employed for next year at Ross in the capacity of teacher and coach of the school's athletic teams.

SLAYER IS DOOMED

For a second time Russell McClellan, above, 17-year-old slayer of Rockford, Ill., has been sentenced to die in the electric chair. McClellan killed a street car motorman during a petty holdup, claiming he was intoxicated at the time. His case received nationwide publicity when Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, came to his defense. Judge Arthur Fisher at Rockford, ruled the boy must die June 24, after rehearing the case.

AUTHOR AND FAMILY LIVE IN "A HOME" LIVABLE AND CHEERFUL

According to the well known author, Mary Roberts Rinehart, her home in Washington, D. C., is not a period house or even a modern one, but "actually is a home, much lived in and very cheerful." She describes it, writing recently in Home & Field magazine. At the upper left is a detail of one wing of the house with evergreens about the steps; right, the garden pool; in the center, the

DAUGHTER IS FOUND GUILTY IN ASSAULT CASE; FREE MOTHER

A conviction and an acquittal resulted Saturday from the prosecution of two women in Municipal Court on a joint charge of having committed an assault upon Mrs. Lillian Hess, wife of Charles Hess, Spring Valley garage owner, at the Hess home last Tuesday afternoon.

A jury which heard the case, tried before Judge E. Dawson Smith in a crowded court room, returned a verdict of guilty against Mrs. Marjorie Bushnell, 34, Xenia, but Mrs. Bushnell's mother, Mrs. Maud Fox, 55, Spring Valley, was found not guilty of the same charge.

Sentence was deferred by the court, pending a motion for a new trial by George H. Smith, Mrs. Bushnell's attorney.

Arrests of the mother and her daughter followed two liquor raids by Sheriff John Baughn and his deputies in the village last Monday night and Tuesday morning.

As a result of the raids, Mrs. Hess' husband, Charles Hess, was fined $500 and costs for possessing liquor by Judge Smith, and Mrs. Fox was assessed $100 and costs on a similar charge. The fine of Mrs. Fox was paid but Hess went to jail for non-payment.

Authorities asserted that upon the return of Mrs. Fox with her daughter and 16-year-old son, Harold, to Spring Valley, after the mother had been released from jail Tuesday, the trio visited the Hess home, and during the visit Mrs. Hess was beaten severely about the head. All three were arrested. Disposition of the case of Harold Fox was turned over to Juvenile Court.

PHYSICIAN SUES

MONEY SUIT FILED ASKS FORECLOSURE
The New York Life Insurance Co., 51 Madison Ave., New York City, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Harold W. Bryson, and Florence Bryson R. R. No. 3, Xenia, asking judgment for $10,382.45, and foreclosure of mortgaged property. ## BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

AUTOMOBILING
To obtain a Merit Badge for automobiling a Scout must:

1. Demonstrate ability to start and stop a car, explaining what precautions should be taken.
2. Take off and put on pneumatic tires.
3. Explain the principles of construction and the functions of clutch (two types) carburetor, valves, magneto, spark plug, differential, and two different types of transmission, explaining what special care each of these parts requires, and be able to explain three differences between a two, and a four-cycle motor.
4. Demonstrate how to put out burning gasoline or oil.
5. Be able to pass an examination equivalent to that required for a license to operate an automobile in the community in which he lives.

President Hoover sent the following message of congratulation to the Boy Scouts through Walter W. Head, president of the twenty-second annual meeting of the organization in New York last week.

"It is indeed most heartening to learn that such splendid progress has been made by the Boy Scouts of America in the past year. The fact that you have, notwithstanding unusual handicaps, been able to achieve such substantial progress in making your program available to an increased number of boys in response to the challenge which I gave to your organization in Washington in 1930."

He furthermore says, "Please convey to your leaders assembled for your twenty-second annual meeting and through them to your membership of now over 900,000 men and boys, my greetings and good wishes."

"It is highly important particularly in these times, that the support of the public be maintained for your educational, social and character-building agencies, and I am confident that your fine record will contribute to this end."

ROOSEVELT TO GET WALKER CASE SOON

NEW YORK, June 4—Evidence against Mayor James J. Walker will be placed before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt "as early next week as possible" in response to the governor's angry comment that "it is not the time for political sniping or buck passing."

Samuel Seabury, counsel for the Hofstadter committee which investigated the mayor's administration, issued a statement late Friday, which avoided mention of "charges," it said.

"I will see to it that a transcript of the record and an analysis of the testimony concerning Mayor Walker reaches the governor as early next week as possible."

The governor indicated he would act on presentation of such evidence.

Protects Woman's Delicate System

It is bad enough for a strong man to tax his system by taking harsh pills, candy and gum-coated drugs or other irritating cathartics. But the delicate feminine system should be guarded rigorously against needless shock.

Women, it is true, are peculiarly susceptible to constipation. Yet it is unnecessary and foolhardy to take chances with harsh, grating laxatives when you can so easily be on the safe side by taking French Lick Salts.

A skillful blend of the same restorative salines found in the waters of famous French Lick Springs, French Lick Salts is in reality a systemic regulator of the first order. It not only induces efficient evacuation, but activates the liver and gall bladder—tones up the system, clears the skin, makes you feel good all over.

Drop a little in cool water. Drink it while it effervesces. As pleasant to take as a fountain beverage! Are you overweight? The French Lick reducing plan will bring back supple slenderness. Ask your druggist today for French Lick Salts—50 cents.

PEACH LEAF CURL CAUSING DAMAGE

COLUMBUS, O., June 6.—Peach leaf curl, a disease affecting leaves, is causing severe damage to peach trees in some sections of the state, according to information received by F. H. Beach, extension horticulturist for the Ohio State University.

Fruit growers reported to Beach that the disease was present in orchards where the dormant spray for curl control was applied too late or omitted.

"Once the season starts the disease cannot be cured," said Professor Beach. "The damage may be held to a minimum, however, by application of nitrogenous fertilizers to the soil about the trees."

On Memorial Day, Troops 41-45 were in line of march to pay tribute at the grave of the late R. H. Kingsbury, former Scoutmaster of Troop 41. The ceremony was in charge of Edward Cornwell.

Twelve large pink peonies were placed on the grave, nine in a circle and three in the center, the symbol of the Scout Oath and Law.

As each Scout placed each flower, each law was repeated respectively and each boy repeated, "I shall always remember thee and cherish thee." Scoutmaster Haney gave the Salute of Honor and the oath was repeated.

Scoutmaster Blackburn closed with the benediction: "May the greatest Scoutmaster of all good Scouts be with us until we meet again."

The Scout cabin in the park has been fully repaired by Scoutmaster P. L. Blackburn. The floors have been oiled, weeds have been cut, and bushes trimmed. All Scouts are asked to police the grounds and get everything in good shape for the camping months.

Troop 75 met at headquarters and meeting opened by the Scout Oath, followed by the Scoutmaster repeating same. Mrs. L. M. Jones entertained the Bobwhite patrol at a chicken supper for going to Urbana and bringing home to Jamestown a banner. The troop is registering again for another year, and the boys pledge to try and bring home more honors for the year.

The boys in Troop 75 are a proud bunch since they really hike instead of going in automobiles. It takes a little longer but no hike is too long. We are planning to hike to the Camparall in August. Our Eagle Scout Dean Sessler is registering as our assistant Scoutmaster with Mr. Haney as our good old Scoutmaster.
